HOSPITALITY EXPERIENCE & DESIGN

1. Noway Leds C4

Among the latest releases in decorative lighting from Leds C4 is the Francesc Vilaró-designed Noway range. With a gravity-defying appearance, its design complements minimal materials. The collection comes in different versions, from purer options to more complex ones that experiment with double shades, varying colour combinations and light effects. Noway is available in sleek black and gold finishes and with or without a floor counterweight. Boasting quality materials, energy efficiency and preventive maintenance, Noway is ideal for use in the hospitality sector and each product comes with a five-year warranty against manufacturing defects.

2. Carapace Oxen by Nexo Luce

Inspired by the geometry of a turtle's shell, Carapace is a visually pure wall lamp, taking its name from the Italian word that defines this natural shape. The adjustable lamp can be tilted up to 45 degrees and swivelled up to 90 degrees, making it a versatile light that is perfect for use as a bedside or reading lamp. Offered in a variety of finishes, such as an elegant satin champagne colour, Carapace may be installed singularly on a wall, or as a set of three positioned at different angles. The light is part of Nexo Luce's Oxen collection, which is dedicated to high-end decorative lighting and providing a unique, contemporary style defined by minimalism and elegance.

3. LS990 Jung

Jung is exclusively offering its classic LS990 switches in a choice of 63 original Les Couleurs Le Corbusier colours worldwide. Considered to be one of the most significant architects of the 20th century, Le Corbusier is celebrated for his timeless buildings, and his creative use of colours. For him, colour was just as important as layout and form for his designs. Jung shares this ethos, with each of the 63 shades in its range able to be combined with any other in the system, giving designers full customisation opportunities and lending rooms the desired atmosphere. The switches are a creative way of bringing vibrancy to the finer details of hospitality interior design.

4. Fractal Preciosa Lighting

Preciosa's Fractal family, designed by Thomas Feichtner, boasts an industrial aesthetic that takes its inspiration from fractal patterns found in nature. The collection features metal branches and hand-cut crystal plates that mirror these motifs through a modular structure and reflecting patterns of crystal light. The chandeliers are created using tubular metal branches that not only give them an artistic shape, but also conceal the light sources, while the branches end with hand-blown crystal plates featuring a wedge that disperses the light into scattered paths. Available in a five sizes, each of the chandeliers comes with a different number of fractals.
